Website Design and Development

We offer 2 options: support building generic templates and custom design or redesign.

1. Generic Templates

Under generic templates, we help clients build their own web sites using free tools. We support and train the client in the use of these free tools. This is an affordable solution and focus on clients without any presence online and doing their web page for the first time. This option does not apply to clients that already have a web page, domain name and hosting services.

We charge by the hour.

2. Custom Design and Redesign

Custom design or redesign: under this option websites are more sophisticated and better designed than the ones offered using free tools. Clients for this option may have a web page, domain name and hosting services. We help them show their products/services online using an informational site (static pages) or dynamic pages based on content database management. It may include e-commerce, search engine optimization and artistic graphic design (logo and flash objects).

Our prices start at $700. The most common solution for a custom informational or static website may have a price range between $1,800 and $2,500. Prices will increase when the website has e-commerce or database for content management.
